Vikki McMillan

Upon Vikki's first meeting with Brian he invited her to ride an elephant with him. Thinking this was the most original pick up line – she called his bluff. Two years later they were married & started "Hollywood Animals".

Vikki's career started in film production working as a production coordinator line producer & editor in New York. She works closely with directors & producers. Vikki's experience as an animal coordination & knowledge in acquiring & maintaining international permits, animal travel, consulting & working within production's budget requirements is incomparable. She has coordinated worldwide tours with over 20 animals at time with lions, tigers & leopards.

She has endless resources for reputable animal brokers, freight forwarders, government animal agencies & animal insurance. Her years experience has helped 100's of production companies in money & time.

Seeing a need to pass on their experience & knowledge in animal husbandry & training she started Hollywood Animals Exotic Animal Training School. She put together the only animal training school curriculum that specializes in practical hands on instruction.

She has raised all the animals owned by Hollywood Animals & Walking with Lions & has an extensive knowledge in cub rearing.

Her production skills combined with Brian's animal talents has made Hollywood Animals & Walking with Lions the foremost animal companies in the industry.
